

Her Song Goes On

Original lyrics by: Rose DeShaw, Laureen Martin, and Vicki Ryder (various gaggles)

Revised by Kathy Miner, Madison Raging Grannies, October 2019

Tune: The Water is Wide

NOTE: Sometimes a flute intro/echo are used for this song ... Kathy's "Erik flute" is the right key

Does her song die

Now _____ is gone?

[or generically: When a Gran is gone?]

Or does her melody li-ive on?

We think when she's no-o longer bound

To this troubled Earth

Her song goes on.

Her voice helped quench

The flames of war,

And challenged tyrants eve-ermore.

We hear her spir-i-it sing along,

And understand ...

Her song goes on.

The songs she sang

While with us here,

Still bring a smile, a laugh, a-a tear...

And those she touched, a-although we mourn

Must surely know ...

Her song goes on.

[slower, expressively; watch director]

We surely know ...

Her song lives on.
